WELCOME

to Pioneer

Welcome to the House of Prayer for all people as we join in celebrating our Creator God on this Holy Sabbath Day.

Here in beautiful Michigan, the evidence of the Creator's stunning handiwork is all around us. Fall has arrived with some cool temperatures and rain, resulting in an array of gorgeous Fall colors. Makes you want to sing, doesn't it? Psalm 95:2,6,7 says, "Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving; Let us shout joyfully to Him with psalms. . . . O come, let us worship and bow down; Let us kneel before the Lord our Maker. For He is our God, and we are the people of His pasture, and the sheep of His hand."

As we worship our Awesome God today, let us be sure to share joy and thanksgiving with those around us.

"ALL I HEARD WAS BULLETS FLYING"

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

The unspeakable tragedy that befell the First Baptist Church in Sutherland Springs, Texas, on Sunday morning has not only broken the collective heart of church-going America. It has caused every church-going American to wonder if it could happen to us, too.

"All I heard was bullets flying everywhere," 73 year old Farida Brown testified, according to the Wall Street Journal. She and a friend, sitting on the last pew near the door, instinctively dropped to the floor when the staccato shooting began even before the black-clad gunman entered the sanctuary. "By the time Devin Patrick Kelley stopped shooting, most of the congregation would be dead or wounded. He killed 26 people and injured 20 more. Counted among the dead is the unborn child of Crystal Holcombe, who was also killed along with 7 family members, including her husband and children" (www.wsj.com/articles/a-survivors-account-from-inside-the-texas-church-as-bullets-rained-1510101060). Our hearts break.

Will this ever end, this accelerating mayhem that has become the daily fare of our world wide web news?

Over a century ago the American writer and spiritual leader Ellen White observed: "We are living in the midst of an 'epidemic of crime' at which thoughtful, God-fearing men everywhere stand aghast. The corruption that prevails is beyond the power of the human pen to describe. Every day brings fresh revelations of political strife, bribery, and fraud; every day brings its heartsickening record of violence and lawlessness, of indifference to human suffering; of brutal, fiendish destruction of human life. Every day testifies to the increase of insanity, murder, and suicide" (Testimonies to the Church 9:89).

"... beyond the power of the human pen to describe..." How tragically true.

And yet the rest of us awakened to the early morning glory of a silver midnight frost draped across our maples—miniature sparkles of ice just weighty enough to break loose leaves dying in yellows and reds, striking the ground below with tiny metallic thuds of protest. Death to be sure. But here at least even in death there still is beauty. This is not Texas.

But this is Earth. And across its pock-marked face the saga of human suffering and death spreads at rates and in degrees that startle even the most caloused observers.

Does the church, do the people and friends of God notice? If a century ago warranted a warning of inexplicable acceleration of epidemic crime and insane killing, what would that writer now say? What Jesus once said was even plainer, "Even so, when you see these things happening, you know the kingdom of God is near" (Luke 21:31).

How near? Near enough for the church of God to arouse from her lethargic slumber? Near enough for the young and the not-so-young of Adventism to turn aside for a day or two from the distractive noise and hypnotic clutch of our technological toys? Near enough for God's people to band together in prayer?

How about seven days of prayer, seven days and nights for opening our minds, our souls to the supreme God of the universe, the Savior of the world? Seven days and nights for praying the cry of the Damascus Road Saul to the Stranger in the blinding light, "What am I to do, Lord?" (Acts 22:10). (See the accompanying thematic guide for 7 Days of Prayer.)

Surely our God is earnest enough, creative enough, personal enough to answer the sincere petition, "What do You want me to do?" If it is racial reconciliation He calls us to pursue, surely He will show us how... right here... won't He? If it is missionary zeal He hopes we will embrace, surely He will grant such fervor to our honest petitions, won't He? If it is His overcoming power He urges us to seek, surely He will grant to us the very victory power we long for, will He not?

Then let us ask in this time of diminishing time. Let us ask and receive, seek and find, knock and it will be opened to us—as Jesus urged us: ". . . how much more will your Father in heaven give the Holy Spirit to those who [Greek: daily/continually] ask Him!" (Luke 11:13). Because if the Holy Spirit is "the greatest of all gifts," then isn't this the most urgent of all times to be daily seeking His fresh baptism of love and power and witness? ■

BY CELESTA BURT

The Lord, throughout history, has found many ways to provide for His people. For the Israelites He gave them manna from the sky. For Elijah He sent birds to bring him food. For the five thousand He multiplied a small lunch. For the widows of the early church He cared for and protected them. For the early pilgrims who came to North America He supplied food in time of need. All of these are testimonies to the care of God for those He has come to save. Sometimes God commands birds to send food to people but most of the time, and in many of these cases, God uses other people as His emissaries.

We are reaching my favorite Sabbath of the year, Thanksgiving Sabbath. I love the hymns, the fellowship, and the gratitude that fills the church. It has been meaningful, from childhood to adulthood, to watch our church come together to thank God, express love for people who have touched our lives, give offerings, praise the Lord for His provision, and share resources to care for the needy. As a child and teenager it deeply impressed me that my church family would take the time to care for those they did not know. Watching church members bring food for those in need, and then watching more people come late in the afternoon and evening in order to collect the boxes that the Pathfinders had packed full of food for needy in the community, ingrained in me the importance of sharing what we have been given. It reminded me to not forget those who usually go unseen including the ones suffering, the people who are sitting around a table with barely enough food to take the edge off their hunger, and those who are wondering how they will give their families a nutritious meal on Thanksgiving.

I remember going one year with some people to drop off Thanksgiving boxes, and was very surprised to find myself in front of the houses of friends. I had not realized that they were among those who needed food. I found out later that they were in a bad situation and had greatly needed what we gave. These were people who came to church, attended Pathfinders, and dressed similar to me, but were actually monetarily destitute. Many of those we do not know, as well as those we do know, are in need of our care.

This is a time of year to rejoice in God's feeding of us, both spiritually and physically. Let us extend the blessing of tasty, nutritious gifts to others so that they too can be not only spiritually filled, but physically filled. God calls upon us to give not only the sacrifice of praise and prayer, but also to sacrifice for others. Isaiah 58:7-8 says, "Divide your bread with the hungry and bring the homeless poor into the house; when you see the naked, to cover him . . . then your light will break out like the dawn . . . the glory of the LORD will be your rear guard." The Lord can shine brilliantly through our acts of care towards those in our community who are in need. Let the memory of God's blessings move us to bless others. ■

HOW FIRM

"How Firm a Foundation" is a grand hymn that owes much of its text directly to Scripture. During today's worship service, why not take a pew Bible and look up the following texts in relation to "How Firm a Foundation"? Stanza one: see II Timothy 2:19 and Hebrews 6:18. Stanza two: see Isaiah 41:10. Stanzas three and four: see Isaiah 43:2. Stanza five: see Hebrews 13:5. There are many references to Scripture in hymns found in the SDA Hymnal. While this hymn is an unusually direct example of Scriptural references, many hymns allude to phrases and longer passages of Scripture. This hymn's melody, titled appropriately FOUNDATION, is an excellent example of elegantly simple melodies "of the people" passed along from generation to generation from an original anonymous source. ■
