JOSEPH AND THE AMAZING
TECHNICOLOR DREAMCOAT:
HOW TO FIND HEALING FOR OUR DEEPEST RELATIONSHIPS

GOD'S GREATNESS

Welcome to each and everyone as we gather for worship and to celebrate the Lord's Supper.

David said these words in Psalms 34:3, "O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together." If you are like me, you have had a magnifying glass in your hand at one time or another. Does a magnifying glass make an object bigger? No, of course not! Yet, it makes the object seem bigger to us. I believe David knew that when we praise God, we are in effect magnifying Him. Let us all on this Sabbath, join in declaring the greatness of God's goodness. Let us exalt His name together.

CUPCAKES, LOLLIPOPS AND A “GREAT WAR”

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

Maybe it's because I just returned from a week-long preaching mission (nine sermons) in Serbia—that land torn by the pincers of war through much of its recent history. Or perhaps it was this week's reporting on the 70th anniversary of the Battle for Iwo Jima, the site of one of World War 2's bloodiest onslaughts and the setting for the iconic picture of U.S. Marines hoisting their wind-whipped American flag atop Mt Suribachi. Whatever the reason, I must confess that in reading the opening line to Daniel 10 today, the phrase “a great war” instantly caught my attention and triggered a brooding chain of thoughts.

Can you think of a more accurate defining of our times than “a great war”? It's what we do for a living (and dying) any more on this planet! I get headline text alerts from CNN on my phone, and almost daily come soundbite reports of another mosque or church or school or marketplace or museum suicide bombing somewhere on earth (though usually from the warring heart of the Middle East). Yemen, Tunisia, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Syria, Iraq, Israel—the roll-call of terrorized nations is too lengthy to enumerate. Sydney, Paris, London—even in the West we know the war of terror.

“A revelation was given to Daniel—its message was true and it concerned a great war” (Daniel 10:1).

The eighty year old exile, prime minister and prophet was so troubled by recent events in his world that he devoted 21 days to modified fasting and concentrated praying. And at the end of three weeks, that aged one, called by Heaven “greatly beloved,” experienced a stunning personal visitation by the pre-incarnate Christ and His trusted angel messenger Gabriel.

And from the conversation that ensues (albeit dominantly one- and God-sided), the veil between us and the unseen world lifts briefly—and we gaze upon beings, celestial armies, forces of light and darkness desperately locked in battle for human allegiance. Daniel, burdened for the salvation of his people, is shown “a great war” in the highest echelons of humanity—a spiritual battle directed by the Almighty Himself to preserve a people, a movement targeted by the dark enemy for annihilation. Will evil triumph over righteousness, will the community of faith be decimated by him who seeks only our destruction?

FORCES WE KNOW

SPIRITUAL VALUES

Live on this campus, live in the world, and it is more than evident the maelstrom of this “great war” surrounds us, too. Forces we know very little about have marked for eradication the spiritual values we embrace. Cloaked behind innocuous symbols like cupcakes and lollipops, it is marketing ploy as old as Eden—insinuations of doubt, whisperings of falsehoods, and the unsubtle targeting of innocents who struggle to understand the values and morality of Christ against the crescendoing drumbeat of a culture that tolerates no contrarian values and brooks no courageous opposition. “A great war” indeed—and Daniel and you and me. And the forces.

Where shall we stand? I like the way my friend, Dr Skip MacCarty, has defined his stance, and I’d like you to read it prayerfully, too (though it may be a bit more explicit than you’re used to). But because his point is so logically, compassionately and persuasively made, I believe it deserves a very far and wide hearing. So please—read it, post it and retweet it (<https://www.facebook.com/skip.maccarty/posts/10153167969416419>).

Why not take a stand in this “great war,” even as he has done? After all, “Dare to Be a Daniel” has got to be more than a childhood song. It’s the one stance you’ll be able to live with for eternity. And isn’t eternity the highest stake of all in this “great war”? ■

GUIDING LEADERS

BY SABINE VATEL

PMC Grow Group Spring Semester has been in session! How about checking in with our Leaders? We will introduce one of them to you today.

Meet Bonnie Perry! She is one of Pioneers dedicated GROW Group Team Leaders. Her full-time work as a teacher for over 30 years and recent life challenges have not deterred her from giving her time to serve. Team Leaders generally oversee 5 GROW Groups Leaders; maintaining contact with them weekly through encouragement and prayer. Team Leaders have had experience as a GROUP Leader at least once. Despite having served as a GG Leader, Bonnie wouldn't call herself an expert and even sounded surprised while sharing the impact her current ministry has had on especially one of the leaders. Here she is (with her permission) sharing from an impromptu conversation...

How have you seen your life and other people's lives impacted by your ministry as a Team Leader?

BP: I remember guiding a Seminary Professor and his co-leader who were very discouraged because of the low attendance for a group they had invested time in. I didn't think I could contribute any advice to a Seminary professor, yet in the process of our conversation, they didn't give up. Soon their group turned around, had steady attendance and in the end, they were so gracious in thanking me for encouraging them!

How would you describe your experience overall as a GROW Group Team Leader?

BP: Simply Inspiring! I get to see up close how the Lord is guiding leaders. Take for example a young man who has over 20 people showing up weekly. He's written a syllabus outlining activities to help students learn Greek. They sing and learn prayers in Greek. I have also seen the courage of a group that is not as numerous and has had a rocky start, but now they are consistent and people are actually being ministered to. As the semester develops, so does the overall leadership improve and the sharing becomes deeper. I get to be part of that!

You work full-time don't you? What would you say to someone who's unsure about the ministry of Team Leadership or shepherding GROW Group Leaders?

BP: It doesn't take that much time. For me it's about half an hour per week to make a positive impact through an email. I'd say go into it with positive thoughts, share these and in return you're really the one who is blessed! I keep a list of my leaders with my morning devotion material. I also add the prayer requests sent by the Groups—not all of them do—that they might share with me. You can't help become eager for the GROUP's success when you pray for them.

What is your biggest prayer when it comes to GROW Groups at Pioneer?

BP: That people don't get lost in the bigness of our church. We're a large place and people might feel forgotten. My prayer is that people would become connected, feel the warmth of God's love and be known. ■

THE CLEANSING

So when He had washed their feet, taken His garments, and sat down again, He said to them, "Do you know what I have done to you? You call Me Teacher and Lord, and you say well, for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet. For I have given you an example, that you should do as I have done to you. Most assuredly, I say to you, a servant is not greater than his master; nor is he who is sent greater than he who sent him. If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them. —John 13:12-17 NKJV

MUSIC ALIVE

TASTING, SEEING

Wind-instrument music today supports spiritual motifs in communion. The opening music relates to Psalm 94:9 (NKJV): “In the multitude of my anxieties within me, Your comforts delight my soul.” It is dedicated to local resident Howard McLaughlin. At the close of the footwashing service, winds play a stanza of “O Sacred Head, Now Wounded,” followed by a plea: “Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me” (Psalm 51:10).

Then, at the distribution of communion elements is music relating to Psalm 34:8: “O taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the man who trusts in Him.” The opening horn calls, imitated at various places in the music, and seems to say, “O taste” ... “and see” ... “the LORD”—which, in the music, is an invitation to take the communion elements into ourselves. Offertory music is from Handel’s Messiah. ■

IN MEMORY WITH HOPE

STUDENT AID GOALS

BY JIM FORD

Spring is in the air. For students in school this means the end of the year is approaching. For the PMC Student Aid Fund it is a time to check the balance in the fund to see how we are doing towards reaching our June 30 goal of $50,000 to be raised from you our faithful givers. This money goes directly towards meeting the tuition expenses of 80 young people at Ruth Murdoch Elementary School and Andrews Academy. These 80 young people need you. Here is a thank-you note to you from a parent of a student you have helped:

This fall starts the final year of the last of the children you have helped get through RMES and AA. It is and has been quite a journey! A lot of ups and downs, the discouragement and temptation to throw up my hands and send them to public school has often come to taunt me. Then I remember all the people who believe in Christian education and support it with prayers and finances. This helps me to dwell on the positive and keep plugging along. I thank all the praying people who support Christian education.

Here is a note from the student that goes along with the parent's letter above:

Thank you so much for all of the help you have provided for me. Your help is much appreciated. Thanks to you I am able to attend Andrews Academy and get a Christian education. I am able to attend school with my friends, with teachers who care, and, of course, I can attend a school where I can freely pray and worship God.
