WELCOME

to Pioneer

Welcome to Pioneer Memorial Church. I am not sure how your week has been, but considering the season I can assume it has been busy. School has begun, so whether you are a student or a teacher, things are underway.

Things in life do not slow down. Once we finish school it only seems to get more and more hectic. This is why I am so thankful that in the midst of this season of busy-ness you have taken time to step out of the schedule and into the Sabbath. We come together each Sabbath to remember that with all of the work we have to do, it is the work that God has done and that He does that really matters. So let us put aside all of the things on our own to-do lists and recognize what He has done for us this past week!

THE REST OF OUR NON-LABOR DAY

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

What's not to like about Labor Day? The school year is only a few hours old, and they declare a holiday! Does it get any better than that? Actually, it does—but that's a matter for another blog.

Wikipedia offers this bit of Labor Day history: "... the idea of Labor Day was the brainchild of Peter J. McGuire, a vice president of the American Federation of Labor, who put forward the initial proposal in the spring of 1882. According to McGuire, on May 8, 1882, he made a proposition to the fledgling Central Labor Union in New York City that a day is set aside for a 'general holiday for the laboring classes'. According to McGuire he further recommended that the event should begin with a street parade as a public demonstration of organized labor's solidarity and strength, with the march followed by a picnic, to which participating local unions could sell tickets as a fundraiser. According to McGuire, he suggested the first Monday in September as an ideal date for such a public celebration, owing to optimum weather and the date's place on the calendar, sitting midway between the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving public holidays" (en.wikipedia.

org/wiki/Labor_Day).

It may have been a holiday crafted by labor unions once upon a time, but most Americans give little thought to that history as they lather up the sunscreen for summer's last fling.

And it's a bit embarrassing to acknowledge that most Earth inhabitants give even less thought to the non-labor-day celebration of the ancient holiday/holy-day bestowed once upon a time to the entire human race.

"And on the seventh day God ended His work [labor] which He had done, and He rested on the seventh day from all His work [labor] which He had done" (Genesis 2:2). The Creator's non-labor-day Gift of time (the seventh day) to humanity "in the beginning"—but who remembers it anymore?

Sigve Tonstad suggests a fresh depth to this divine Gift: "The Sabbath has the power to overturn distorted priorities. In the biblical perspective, the Sabbath interrupts the routine of clock time and the obligation of work by calling all creation to a day of rest according to the great clock of nature. As daylight fades every Friday night, 'from evening to evening' (Lev. 23:32), the Sabbath breaks the cycle of business and the struggle for subsistence. At the setting of the sun, clock time yields to Creation time in order to respond to a higher summons, mediated by the clock of Creation. Human priorities, set by the clock and the necessity of working, come face to face with God's generous provision" (The Lost Meaning of the Seventh Day 382).

◀◀ THE FOURTH WATCH BLOGS ARE FOUND ONLINE

Rest. Cessation of labor. Quiet, rhythmic breathing again. Why? Because Someone else has already undertaken the labor, has done the heavy lifting, has breathed His own breath into the human being and then has summoned us—you and me—to catch that breath, our breath, and to rest in Him. "Tell your heart to beat again"—the words of Danny Gokey's hit song—is the whispered appeal of the non-labor-day Sabbath.

And remember: ". . . every time the Sabbath came round, while it would of necessity bring before the minds of [humanity] the glory of God's wisdom, power, and goodness, as manifested in His works of creation, it would bring still more prominently before [our] minds, and present in special splendour and attractiveness, the crowning glory of His love, manifested in His coming so very near to [us] in friendship . . . as man's glorious Friend" (John Kellman in Sakae Kubo's God Meets Man 15-16).

Rest. In our "glorious Friend." Who came "so very near to [us] in friendship." Who remains "so very near to [us] in friendship."

Rest. Because to labor over what He has already declared "very good" (Genesis 1:31) and "finished" (John 19:30) belabors the point of His Gift beyond the point of credulity.

So this seventh-day Sabbath just rest. Rest in the One whose labor is finished but whose love is everlasting.

Rest. ■

“Let no one seek his own good, but that of his neighbor” (1 Cor 10:24).

How often do we think about the well-being of our neighbors? Whether they are literal neighbors or strangers in the parking lot. How often do we back down and say . . . You know what, you go ahead and take that parking space. You deserve it! How often do you we put ourselves at a disadvantage so that others can have the advantage? A recent challenge has been started called #tipthecheck, where strangers are leaving tips that are the same size or larger than their bill at cafés and restaurants. The response from those receiving the tips is usually shock and disbelief at the random kindness, and it's creating beautiful stories of hope and kindness being shared between strangers.

It's no surprise to us that society's acts of kindness bounce from popular to unpopular, everything from the live-strong bracelets to the ice bucket challenge. We love to hear stories about strangers tipping more than the check, paying for other people's meals, or large amounts of money being raised for good causes. There's something hopeful about acts of kindness that show a glimpse of what the world could be if more people consciously choose to put others before themselves. As much as we love to hear these stories, how often are we the creator of these stories? The New Testament accounts of Jesus would have filled libraries with the random and shocking acts of kindness that He showed to people of different opinions, cultures, and beliefs. It's not automatically in our human nature to put our neighbor before ourselves, we need to make the conscious choice to follow the instructions of our Creator and choose to prioritize the needs of others before our own.

As we embark into a new school year, many opportunities will arise to serve our neighbors. Whether it's participating in a weekend service event, helping to meet someone's individual need, or participating in a Change Day project, shouldn't we be making service and kindness a priority in our daily lives? What would that look like for our community?

It would be as shocking as tipping the amount of the check, it would be as shocking as someone giving you the best parking spot instead of taking it for themselves. It would produce shock and disbelief, but the good kind.

God reminds us in Hebrews 6:10, “. . . He will not forget your work and the love you have shown Him as you have helped his people and continue to help them.” ■

MUSIC ALIVE

"OUR FATHER IN HEAVEN"

Opening and closing organ music today are musical settings based on German sacred melody VATER UNSER IM HIMMELREICH (see English in service order). Today's offertory was drafted during a summer 2018 composition retreat, and is a passacaglia—variations on a theme generally in the bass while variations occur above it. This passacaglia's theme sounds plainly at the beginning; then eleven variations occur, each meant to express a thought from Jesus' "Our Father" prayer in Matt. 6:9-13. For examples, var. 3, "Thy will be done", is a round in which a melody starts and is followed below in close imitation; var. 5 pleads for forgiveness; var. 6 rises up in contrast to sinister evil below; var. 8 is regal ("kingdom"); and var. 10 celebrates waves of bright glory before var. 11 expresses a benedictory "Amen." ■

Here is the first Sabbath of the new school year at Andrews University. Look around and you may notice that the pews are more full. This may be the first Sabbath for some who are worshipping with us. We want to make them feel welcome. We also want to make sure that we have a beautiful and functional church for all of us to worship in. This week's offering goes to church budget. Let's give generously so we can continue to worship in such a lovely church.

WELCOME NEW PASTOR!

We're delighted to welcome to our Pioneer pastoral team John and Teresa Glass, our new pastoral care (visitation) pastors. John and Teresa are native Michiganders, growing up near Flint (John) and on a farm south of Battle Creek (Teresa). Having spent 20 years pastoring in Michigan, they have subsequently pastored across the country (from Virginia to Oregon). The Glasses have two married daughters, both alums at Andrews University: Candace (a physical therapist), married to Nathan Sumner (a graduate of Ruth Murdoch and Andrews Academy), with two children; and, Charity (an attorney), married to Chad Cotta (grandson of Roger and Peggy Dudley), with one son.

Teresa is a respiratory therapist, working at the ABC Christian Bookstore here in town, and John is a three-time alumnus of Andrews. You'll come to love them both, as we have. We pray for them God's abundant blessings on their ministry here in our parish. Welcome, John and Teresa!
