THE PUGWASH FACTOR

HOW TO DISCERN THE
POPE'S AGENDA FOR AMERICA

THE JOY OF REUNIONS

It is with full hearts that we welcome you to Pioneer Memorial Church this Sabbath morning. We welcome the alumni that return to reunite with friends and loved ones from their time here at Andrews University. As alumni of Andrews University you are a part of the family of Pioneer Memorial Church.

As we welcome you home this Sabbath, it reminds us of the wonderful reunion of the Second Coming. It is with anticipation that we live this day in hopes of that glorious day to come.

It is through these reunions and gatherings that we renew our mission. It is through the process of coming together that we are reminded of the joy that awaits. It is through the celebration of these earthly reunions that we are reminded of our mission to spread the Gospel to the whole world. So as we worship together today let us set our eyes on that day. —Ben Martin

HOLLYWOOD, THE APOCALYPSE AND THE POPE

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

Young filmmaker Christopher Hudson has pulled off a headline-grabbing feat. Armed with only a $20,000 budget raised through crowd-funding and gifted with remarkable talent for cutting edge camera work and music/script editing, Hudson directs and stars in this 1:26:00 length docudrama, "Leopard Vision." Since its September 7 release on YouTube, the movie has gone viral (194,000 YouTube views in less than three weeks). Critics are weighing in, including Hyperfresh, an independent pop culture magazine, which gave "Leopard Vision" a five-star movie review. For a Seventh-day Adventist filmmaker?

It was late in the evening when I got an email this week with one sentence—check out this link. I did. Turns out it was a news piece written by Andrew McChesney for the Adventist Review online. I'd never heard of Christopher Hudson—who grew up an Adventist kid on Long Island but left it all at the age of 19 to hitch his wagon to another star. Began writing “treatments for music videos.” Finally caught a break with Madonna’s production company MadGuy Films. But in the flush of success God caught him. Again. And now “Leopard Vision.”

What struck me—before even watching—was the strong review from Hyperfresh: “Christopher Hudson. Better known globally as the ‘The Forerunner’ has done the unthinkable, in which no man has ever set forth to accomplish, publicly and most importantly—personally. His newest motion picture/documentary ‘Leopard Vision’, reveals the truth behind the biggest hidden agenda in the history of humanity’s existence, which is the decoding of the biblical prophesy [sic] of Revelation in today’s modern times. And this isn’t an ‘opinionated’ documentary with assumptions conjured forth by his feelings’ or ‘emotions’. Christopher Hudson uses historical facts proven to be correct in verification of his thesis. . . . By also incorporating Biblical Doctrine and living scripture to confirm this to be evident and true, after watching this film, prepare your mind to be blown out the skull it once rested in” (<http://hypefreshmag.com/leopard-vision-delivers-a-powerful-message-all-should-watch/>).

Hudson’s theme? McChesney wrote: “It’s a Revelation prophecy seminar unlike any you’ve ever witnessed. . . . a hip, fast-paced film that has gone viral on YouTube and . . . traces the history of the Catholic church while underscoring what Hudson sees as the central theme of the last book of the Bible: that the book is a revelation of Jesus Christ, not of political powers or false systems of worship” (<http://www.adventistreview.org/church-news/story3250-young-adventist-filmmaker-turns-bible-prophecy-into-youtube-hit>).

Clicking on to the YouTube link, I quickly realized McChesney and Hyperfresh were right—“Leopard Vision” is powerful stuff! Thought I’d catch maybe the first five or 10 minutes but sat in front of my laptop for an hour and half, gripped by Hudson’s screen wizardry, his compelling script and emotive sound track.

On this weekend when the nation and world are mesmerized by the news media’s live coverage of someone who is arguably the most popular human being on the planet today, “Leopard Vision” is a commanding reminder that beyond charisma and news cycles is the unstoppable advance of apocalyptic prophecy—prophecy that is sounding ominously more familiar with each fresh headline. Never read that prophecy before or can’t remember it now? Christopher Hudson’s new tutorial or refresher movie will take care of that—click on to: www.youtube.com/watch?v=gYiXc34-Fck.

In fact do your friends a favor—simply forward this blog with its embedded links or send them the link yourself. Either way wouldn’t this be the right time for the halogen light of prophecy to illumine the gathering darkness? ■

STAYING ORGANIZED 101

BY NINA LASSONNIER

College is a one-of-a-kind experience. Between classes, homework, friends, and jobs, it can get overwhelming very quickly. Staying organized is one of the most important things to learn while in college. In 1 Corinthians 14:40, God says that all things should be done decently and in order. College is definitely one of those things. Here are five practical tips to help any college student stay organized.

1 OWN A STUDENT PLANNER AND USE IT

Keeping track of assignments and due dates is very important. You might think that you will be able to memorize your assignment due dates. Wrong! One day or another you will forget an assignment. Also, a lot of times teachers change the due dates. In order to avoid forgetting important assignments, get a planner. It helps to have everything in one place; it saves time and makes it easier to have a visual for what's ahead.

2 PRIORITIZE

Take 5 to 10 minutes to gather all the assignments you want to work on and make a list. Then put the assignments in a specific order. For example you can alternate between long and short assignments, or between boring and interesting ones, but always put one of the hardest assignments first. That way, you will be able to keep the work session somewhat interesting without wearing yourself out. It may seem like a waste of time to organize your homework session. However, these few minutes could be the difference between finishing your work in a couple hours versus a few days!

3 MAKE TIME FOR GOD

Despite heavy workloads and tight schedules, it is always important to make time for God. Taking a few minutes out of your busy schedule to re-charge your spiritual battery will help you put everything in perspective. It will give you a different outlook on life and allow you to be able to deal with stress when it hits. As Proverbs 3:5-6 says, keeping God "in on your life" is key to driven, purposeful life. Use God's word as a guide for your present and future; you cannot get more organized than that!

4 JUST DO IT

Procrastination: the number one problem for all college students. You may have the most detailed planner and the most thorough to-do list, but if you don't actually do what you planned to do, well . . . it will not get done (Proverbs 13:4). If you have set aside a certain time for an assignment, anything else that you do instead is a form of procrastination. That includes cleaning, laundry, reading your textbook, working out and even more planning. Finding the motivation to start an assignment is one of the hardest things in the world to do but it is important. Find that thing that keeps you going when you have no motivation. It could be as simple as imagining yourself in a cap and gown one day. Find what works for you and do it.

5 BE REALISTIC

Finally, you have to remember that no one is perfect—even those those students who seem as if they have it all together. The secret is to try as hard as you can and then adjust when you fall short of your expectations. Begin by setting achievable goals; don't overload yourself. Instead, divide long assignments into shorter sections that can become part of your regular homework sessions. If at first you don't succeed, tweak your method a little, and try again.

College is a learning experience in more ways than one. Learn how to master the skill of organization; it is one that will serve you for the rest of your life. ■

It is true that some preach Christ out of envy and rivalry, but others out of goodwill.

The latter do so out of love, knowing that I am put here for the defense of the gospel. The former preach Christ out of selfish ambition, not sincerely, supposing that they can stir up trouble for me while I am in chains.

But what does it matter? The important thing is that in every way, whether from false motives or true, Christ is preached. And because of this I rejoice.

MUSIC ALIVE

ONE FOUNDATION

Rising sturdily from massive foundations, grand cathedrals in Great Britain probably were not integral to the inspiration for the melody of today's Opening Voluntary. But at various times in his career, the melody's composer served in several of these stupendous cathedrals. The composer, Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), was an English grandson of the widely known preacher and poet Charles Wesley. Samuel Wesley was an organist from his early twenties in several resplendent English cathedrals, including those of Hereford, Exeter, Winchester, and Gloucester. What stupendous understructure must have supported the soaring heights of such awe-inspiring buildings. The text of "The Church Has One Foundation" (hymn 348) emphasizes Christ as the single foundation for the community of believers. The score underlying today's organ setting was composed for the 2015 General Conference Session in San Antonio. ■

AN “OUT-OF-THIS WORLD” INVESTMENT

BY SUE RAPPETTE

What kind of investments have you made this year? Have you put your money into stocks or bonds, real estate or a business venture? Are you hoping for big returns—maybe 5%, 10% or better?

Incredibly, in God’s economy, we can expect a hundred-fold guaranteed return when we choose to invest in His Kingdom. One of His investment opportunities is Christian Education. In His word, God expresses His great desire for children to know of His love. We can have a part to play in God’s long-term goal to see these precious ones nurtured in the faith.

When you invest in Christian education, you enable our two schools, Ruth Murdoch Elementary School and Andrews Academy, to give young people an education from God’s perspective. RMES is a place where parents, teachers, church, and community unite to bring children closer to God. Striving toward excellence, this diverse family of learners works with heads, hearts, and hands to nurture Christ-like character. Andrews Academy’s goal is to continue this process during the high-school years. By contributing to Christian Education, you will be partnering with others and sharing in a vision that God has for our children. The return on your investment will be “out-of-this-world.” ■
