WELCOME!

Three days into September and already life around here is a full-court press (to borrow an analogy from basketball)! Which is why you and I need this hour of praise and prayer and power. Which is also why we really couldn't (and can't) live without this Day number seven. And so on this Sabbath Day—the Lord's Day—welcome into the heart of Jesus. A heart that is seen in his face. A face that is seen, when in his name we gather to gaze upon him. And in that upward look become changed. From the inside out. By his grace and peace and faith and hope. Look into the face of Jesus this morning—and listen for what he will quietly whisper to you.

“GOOD NIGHT, IRENE”

The old American folk song sings it well, doesn't it?

Irene goodnight, Irene goodnight
Goodnight Irene, goodnight Irene
I'll see you in my dreams

You cause me to weep,
You cause me to mourn
You cause me to leave my home
But the very last words I heard her say
Was “Please sing me one more song”

Irene goodnight, Irene goodnight
Goodnight Irene, goodnight Irene
I'll see you in my dreams

But nobody up and down the eastern seaboard is in any mood to sing these words, as the massive clean-up for Hurricane Irene's devastation continues. “You cause me to weep, you cause me to mourn, you cause me to leave my home” pretty much sums it up in the aftermath of this storm—remembered more for her rains and floods rather than for her winds. Over forty dead, property damages

REVIVAL & REFORMATION

EVERY SINCERE PRAYER ASCENDS TO THE SANCTUARY

“As yet the disciples were unacquainted with the Saviour’s unlimited resources and power. He said to them, ‘Until now you have not asked for anything in my name.’ Jn 16:24 He explained that the secret of their success would be in asking for strength and grace in His name. He would be present before the Father to make request for them. The prayer of the humble suppliant He presents as His own desire in that soul’s behalf. Every sincere prayer is heard in heaven. It may not be fluently expressed; but if the heart is in it, it will ascend to the sanctuary where Jesus ministers, and He will present it to the Father without one awkward, stammering word, beautiful and fragrant with the incense of His own perfection.” Desire of Ages, 667

United Prayer

A PMC Prayer Ministries team member will be present to pray with you on Mondays between 12:30~1:30 PM, and Thursdays 5:00~6:00 PM. For further information contact Matt: shallenb@andrews.edu or Dennis: hollings@andrews.edu

HOUSE OF PRAYER

WEDNESDAY @ 7 PM, SANCTUARY

IMAM TO VISIT HOP NEXT WEEK

As part of Andrews University’s tenth anniversary commemoration of September 11 next week, House of Prayer will be hosting a visiting imam from Detroit. Representing two of the three monotheistic religions of earth, our collective conversation Wednesday evening (7:00) will focus on the common spiritual ground that Adventists and Muslims share: our fervent belief in God, our commitment to daily prayer and worship, our reverence for the Holy Books, et al. Come and join this important prayer gathering as we remember. Worship credit for university students.

MASTER PLAN OF EVANGELISM

GLOBAL EVANGELISM / PICTURE YOURSELF INVOLVED

Picture this: You are sitting in your pew waiting for the church to start. You are watching a team of people in black preparing for the service. They are moving microphones, adjusting cameras and going over last minute details. You think to yourself, If I was them I would do _____.

If you can fill in the blank, you should join the media team. Each week 20 volunteers are needed to produce audio, video, web streaming and the image magnification you see here in the sanctuary.

FAQ: I don't have technical experience—can I still help?

A: Yes, musical talent, a creative eye and a passion for serving are of equal value to technical experience.

FAQ: What sort of time commitment will I be looking at?

A: Between 6 and 10 hours every other week.

FAQ: Wow, that is a lot of time, is it fulfilling?

A: Very, if media ministry is your passion, you'll find yourself looking forward to the weekends you are serving not even realizing you are putting in that much time. Media ministry is unique because you have an extremely important local impact while simultaneously ministering to a global audience.

FAQ: Who do I talk with to get involved?

A: Email Nick Wolfer at wolfer@pmchurch.tv.

PRAY

That many will be encouraged as they hear God's messages via TV, radio and the internet

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

RMES / THE FIRST DAY

The first day of school is one filled with so many sights, sounds, and emotions. Walking through the halls you see parents and students, some stopped and pointing down the halls, others practically running to their classrooms. The Pledge of Allegiance, If You're Happy and You Know It, and other familiar sounds fill the air. Students filled with exuberance, others feeling anxious or nervous, are greeted warmly by teachers who know their names even though they may have never met.

As we begin another school year at Ruth Murdoch Elementary School, we hope that you will "Let the little children come," (Matthew 19:14) and know that they will spend a year with us where they will learn about Jesus' love through their teachers, their friends, and through prayer.

PRAY

That God's spirit will be on our campuses throughout the world as we begin school

FAMILY LIFE COMMITTEE / NURTURING RELATIONSHIPS

Your PMC Family Life Committee supports many PMC ministries related to family life. It also conducts programs such as: Friday-evening agape celebrations in February, recognition of Mother's/Father's Days, seminars on relationship issues, marriage mentoring, showing family-life films such as "Fireproof," etc.-all funded primarily by donations to the FLC.

One FLC practice of recent years has been to give a book about marriage to each PMC newlywed couple, including PMC members and also students who have made this their church home while at AU. Each gift-wrapped book is accompanied with a letter with best wishes from their church and with mention of other PMC resources for assisting them in this new adventure, one for which we generally have less training than any other aspect of life.

Another way we encourage a firm foundation for new marriages is to support Adventist Engaged Encounter. Under the direction of Don and Sue Murray since its beginning in 1978, this weekend relationship-enrichment program is now led by David and Caryl-Lynn Ferguson and a team of other couples. It is offered each fall and spring for engaged or newly married couples (next one: November 11-13). We encourage couples to attend and gain insights into themselves, their strengths and growth areas as a couple, and how to build a solid, long-lasting marriage. You might consider an Engaged Encounter weekend as your engagement or wedding gift to a couple you love. To arrange for this, contact AEE@andrews.edu.

PRAY

For strong PMC families, committed to God and to each other predicted to exceed $7 billion, Irene now ranks in the top ten most expensive disasters in this country's history.

But what caught my eye this week was the announcement that this marks the sixty-sixth disaster that FEMA (the Federal Emergency Management Agency) has faced in 2011. And the monies are running low, with only $900 million left in FEMA's disaster aid funding.

So here's a question for your own brooding: Could an escalation in natural disasters drain our national economy? I.e., is it possible that a spike in costly disasters could someday (I'm not suggesting today) actually deplete government resources, drain private reserves and diminish our collective ability to respond to nature's emergencies? How many more hurricanes or droughts (Texas was praying for the rain of that hurricane to veer westward to relieve their own withering disaster) or earthquakes would it take to "break the bank" in the United States? (Look at Japan with a single earthquake and tsunami this year, as she still struggles to gain her economic footing.)

The US News and World Report website reported this week: "To date, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency's website, President Obama has declared 24 emergencies and 66 major disaster declarations in 2011. So, also including those for fire management assistance, President Obama has made 181 FEMA declarations this year. That figure easily eclipses the previous record of 157 overall annual declarations set by Bill Clinton in 1996." And the year isn't even over. (<http://www.usnews.com/news/> articles/2011/08/30/12-states-with-the-most-disaster-declarations-in-2011?PageNr=1)

"Good night, Irene." But could it be "Good night, America" one of these days?

Two thousand years ago, Christ made this terse prediction of global conditions that would occupy the headlines on the eve of his return: "On the earth, nations will be in anguish and perplexity at the roaring and tossing of the sea. Men will faint from terror, apprehensive of what is coming on the world, for the heavenly bodies will be shaken. At that time they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory" (Luke 21:25-27).

So shall we panic? Not at all. But we really do need to quit living life as though it were "business as usual." The "usual" has long gone, and the "unusual" is now our new "usual." So what if we lived with the quiet confidence Christ's next sentence offers: "When these things begin to take place, stand up and lift up your heads, because your redemption is drawing near" (v 28). Is Jesus suggesting a quiet confidence in the prediction? No, but implicit in his command is an abiding confidence in the One who is to return.

That's why our new series, "The Last Word: The Fourth Gospel for a Final Generation," is front and center this new season—because reliving the story of Jesus can revive our faith in Jesus. Not faith in the headlines of earth's "fourth watch"—but rather faith in the One who has promised that after the "Good night" will come the very "Good morning." No wonder we can live the "fourth watch" with our heads up!

CALL TO WORSHIP

In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God.

And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us full of grace and truth.

We have beheld his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father.

And from his fullness have we all received, grace upon grace.

Why have you come here?

We have come to worship God!

THE WORD

JOHN 1: 9-14, NIV

The true light that gives light to everyone was coming into the world. He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world did not recognize him.

He came to that which was his own, but his own did not receive him.

Yet to all who did receive him, to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God—

The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us. We have seen his glory, the glory of the one and only Son, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth.

MUSIC ALIVE

ACTIVE CREATIVITY

It is not always easy to write a fine hymn text. In fact, it is often quite difficult. Fred Pratt Green's hymn "Christ Is the World's Light" and its attached melody (no. 234) figure in a variety of uses in today's worship services. Pratt Green (1903-2000) was a Methodist minister in England. At the beginning of this school year, his thoughts about creative process are particularly inspiration: "Only one thing matters: that the hymn shall be right for use in worship. To me, inspiration, the 'given' element in all art, is the mystery that lies behind all creativity and that essential part of creativity we call craftsmanship. So I decided not to wait to feel inspired, but to get to [the writing process], and to do my best."
