NOVEMBER 30, 2013

9:00 & 11:45 AM // PAGE 11

WELCOME!

"O give thanks to the Lord—His love endures forever!" That glad summons sounded by our majestic worship banners truly is the high note of Thanksgiving today. How thank-filled our worshipping hearts and spirits can be on this holiday weekend as we gather from across our community and campus to praise the God who has poured out His love to us throughout the year nearly past. Let our voices be raised in ascending praise to Him whose love will keep us forever and ever. Welcome to this Sabbath encounter with Christ. Welcome!

PILGRIMS ALL ARE WE

Nathaniel Philbrick, in Mayflower, his acclaimed history of the Pilgrims, recounts how William Bradford, the intrepid leader of that courageous band of Puritans, years later described "that first morning in America." Recalling with wonder their landing on the salty, windswept shores of Cape Cod Bay on November 15, 1620, Bradford wrote: "But here I cannot stay and make a pause and stand half amazed at this poor people's present condition. . . . [T]hey had now no friends to welcome them nor inns to entertain or refresh their weather-beaten bodies; no houses or much less towns to repair to, to seek for succor. What could sustain them but the spirit of God and His Grace? May not and ought not the children of these fathers rightly say: 'Our fathers were Englishmen which came over this great ocean, and were ready to perish in this wilderness;

"I WILL DO A NEW THING"

THEIR TALKING ABOUT YOU

Have you ever come up to a group of people who were talking and laughing, and sensed they had been talking about you? A few times when this has happened to me they have said, "Oh, we were just talking about you!" but it has also happened that the conversation abruptly shuts down into an awkward silence. How did it make you feel? When confronted by the knowledge that your classmates or co-workers have been talking about you—perhaps disparagingly—what was your response? Have you ever thought how sweet retaliating could be—to start talking about them? Maybe get in their face with the real truth just to satisfy the inner longing for revenge or to justify and explain yourself?

Yet Jesus told us we should begin talking about them—with our friend God. He said, "Love your enemies, bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who spitefully use you and persecute you, that you may be the sons [and daughters] of your father in heaven." And Jesus didn't simply tell us what to do, He demonstrated when He said, "Father, forgive them for they do not know what they are doing."

If in the future you are ever on the other side participating in passing, or listening to the stories around about others; just remember that the person who tells you the best gossip is also telling your secrets to everyone they know!

—Dennis Hollingsead

"Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. And whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him."

N2N / THE WISH LIST

Do you have a wish list? Is it filled with dreams you want to see come true, places you want to visit, milestones you hope to reach in your lifetime?

Laura Meyer, Executive Director of Neighbor to Neighbor, has a wish list too. "We have a faithful core of volunteers," explains Laura, "but my wish is to have MANY more willing hands to accomplish all that needs to be done around here. Each week friends in the community drop off donations of clothing, furniture, and an endless variety of other things. It's so important that we have enough workers to process donations promptly."

Volunteers are needed in other areas:

Building maintenance—painting and minor repairs

Custodial—vacuuming, washing windows, dusting, general cleaning

Repairs—testing donated small appliances, lamps, TVs and toys

Thrift store—organizing and displaying items

Grounds—weeding, sweeping, pruning shrubs, seasonal upkeep

Client services—organizing client bedding and dishes

N2N has been impacting lives in our community for many years. At the fairgrounds this summer, a man stopped to tell Laura his childhood memory. "My mom was raising 3 of us children on her own when there was a fire in our apartment building," he said, "After the fire, N2N was there to help us, giving us clothing and other essential items. Even though it has been many years since this happened, I have never forgotten your help and kindness."

If you want to be a part of this community service outreach, please call Laura. It is God's wish for all of us to be His hands in this hurting world.

—Sue Rappette

MASTER PLAN OF EVANGELISM

MEDIA MINISTRY / A CORNUCOPIA OF TECHNOLOGY

This year Pioneer's media department has much to be thankful for. We have had the funding to purchase airtime, materials to offer and people to answer the phones. We've launched a new blog, www.pioneerbackstage.com, which functions as a resource for others doing media ministry. We have been able to replace some of our aging equipment for deals only God could broker. Our live web stream is growing in viewership—nearly a thousand people worshipping with us each week. Our website is serving files to tens of thousands of people each month and people are sharing these resources left and right. God has given us more than fifty media volunteers who are serving with a higher level of excellence than ever before. He has provided the resources for three people dedicated full time to media ministry.

This thanksgiving season, let's join together in thanking God for providing the tools, resources, and the people and ask him to use all these things to expand His kingdom. After all, we are really thankful for the souls saved through the Holy Spirit's use of these tools. —Nickilos Wolfer

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

RMES / HELP FOR THE PHILIPPINES

When RMES faculty and students heard about the recent disaster in the Philippines, the destructive Typhoon Haiyan, they immediately put a plan together to help.

By the end of the school day, Mr. Giddings' classroom was littered with colored paper, ribbons, tape, and markers. A huge flag of the Philippines was brightly displayed on the screen. Jr. High students were buzzing around with giant poster boards, writing words like "help," "hope," and "pray." Large donation bins were decorated with wrapping paper so that they could not be ignored.

Groups of students and faculty headed outside to get the message out—RMES wants to help the people of the Philippines! Bundled in winter coats, hats, and gloves, our students smiled, waved, and cheered as supporters dropped money into our makeshift donation containers. Parents generously donated to the cause, and within the first 15 minutes, RMES students had raised over $200! All funds donated to our project will be sent to ADRA.

News of our efforts soon spread across the globe. Our Facebook posts were seen by over 2,000 Facebook users and shared by users in countries such as Italy, Peru, Bolivia, and the Philippines. The comments posted made it clear that the work done by RMES students was appreciated.

Thank you, students for the work you are doing! It matters more than you know. Thanks to our teachers for allowing our students the time and opportunity to start a mission project. This is a lesson that they will never forget. Thank you to the parents and friends for supporting the Philippines through your donations and prayers.

but they cried unto the Lord, and He heard their voice and looked on their adversity” (46).

His words are appropriate, not only because we celebrate the nearly four-century tradition of the Pilgrims’ thanksgiving this week. But in Bradford’s description—“they cried unto the Lord, and He heard their voice and looked on their adversity”—perhaps we also hear the faint hint of a day of adversity yet coming upon this land of the Pilgrims. Who wants to be a naysayer on such a blessed and bountiful holiday weekend like this? But the gyrating marketplace, the mad scramble of consumerism, the insufferable political debate over this proud nation’s responsibility to the weakest and poorest (and sickest) among us, the yawning chasm between the haves and the have-nots in America—one perhaps could be excused, even on a holiday weekend, for wondering if this Land of the free has already seen her best days.

Scribbled on the page of Revelation 13 in my Bible are these words written a century ago: “The Lord has done more for the United States than for any other country upon which the sun shines” (Ms 17, 1906). Hardly a prideful claim of superiority or grounds for national arrogance, this quiet observation simply declares a common truth that this country has enjoyed the uncommon blessings of Providence. And in the sunlight, how easy is the spirit of thanksgiving. But should the days turn dark and the supernal blessings wither away, what shall we be grateful for then?

A year after their landing, the Pilgrims gathered for that first thanksgiving—half of their band already buried beneath the Massachusetts sod. Yet they gave thanks to God. And so must we—no matter the uncertain voyage that spreads before us, nationally or personally. The Almighty is still that. And in the darkest storm His mercy will yet triumph. Just look at Calvary. “Oh, give thanks to the LORD, for He is good! For His mercy endures forever” (Psalm 136:1 NKJV).

*Now Thank We All Our God / Sigfrid Karg-ElertCALL TO WORSHIP

Let us speak our prayers of praise and thanksgiving.

We cannot be silent, when the wonders of God's ways are before us.

We praise you, God, for the hope to which Christ is herald.

We thank you, God, that trust in your grace is never misplaced.THE WORD

PSALM 103:1-5 NIV

Praise the Lord, my soul; all my inmost being, praise his holy name.

Praise the Lord, my soul, and forget not all his benefits who forgives all your sins and heals all your diseases, who redeems your life from the pit and crowns you with love and compassion, who satisfies your desires with good things so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's.

MUSIC ALIVEPSALMS, PUMPKINS, PILGRIMS, PURITANS

Singing of psalms was central in worship far into the period of the Pilgrims and the Puritans in the United States. In fact, while a 1621 American thanksgiving is somewhat underdocumented, just a generation later the so-called Bay Psalm Book, the first book printed in the American colonies, gave tangible evidence for worship practice. Over decades, psalm paraphrases were immensely important in early-American sacred music. Today's Worship in Music has text from the psalm paraphrases of Englishman Isaac Watts (1674-1748), with a melody as printed in the mid-1800s. Prominent American composer Virgil Thomson (1896-1989) composed a highly-expressive accompaniment for this simple melody. A graduate of Harvard University, Thomson was an experienced church musician whose original melodies often were hymn-like.
