COURAGE OR COMFORT?

"You can be courageous or you can be comfortable. You can't be both". I saw this poster yesterday and it reminded me of my own personal experience—I was in the midst of a major life decision. "What will you do?", my friend asked. I answered, I didn't know and was praying about it. I also told him, "I'm waiting for a sign to feel good about it." My own words haunted me that whole morning. Then this thought hit me: "When did I ever call you just to be 'comfortable'? Just follow me". Opportunities that scare us can also help us grow. As we worship together, may God's promise through 2Thessalonians 5:24 fill us with trust and courage in the God who is able!

“THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD”

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

One writer has observed that of all the chapters in Scripture, John 17 is “the easiest in regard to words, the most profound in regard to ideas” (SDA BC 5:1051). The entire chapter is a prayer, the longest prayer of Jesus on record. He will be dead in less than twenty-four hours. But thinking little of Himself, the Savior pleads with God on behalf of His disciples: “I have given them the glory that You gave Me, that they may be one as we are one—I in them and You in Me—so that they may be brought to complete unity” (John 17:22, 23 NIV, emphasis supplied).

Any idea of what “complete unity” would look like in the third millennial church? It surely can’t mean that we would all think alike. A quick perusal of the Book of Acts makes it abundantly clear that to “let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus” (Philippians 2:5 NKJV) provides wide latitude for individual conviction and expression based on personal experience and spiritual giftedness. “Complete unity” can’t mean that we would all act alike either. The striking differences between the modus operandi of John vs Peter vs Paul vs Mary vs Timothy vs James, et al, is evidence enough that the Holy Spirit is the eager sponsor of “diversities of gifts” and “differences of ministries” and “diversities of activities” (1 Corinthians 12:4-6).

So how would Jesus’ prayer for “complete unity” among His followers be answered today? Whatever the answer, Jesus is unequivocal regarding the impression such unity makes on the world: “Then the world will know that You sent Me and have loved them even as You have loved Me” (v 24). His point? “Complete unity” within the community of faith provides compelling evidence that (1) Christ is the Sent One of God, and (2) the church is the sent one of Christ—“By this all will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another” (John 13:35).

“Complete unity” lived out through our radical, counter-cultural love for one another—how can the church have a more persuasive and contagious witness to the Savior than that!

That’s why I shared with you last Sabbath my heart burden for this community of faith to reflect the strong love of racial unity as well. In this congregation, on this campus, and throughout the church in America Jesus’ prayer (which is an implicit promise) for “complete unity” must be answered.

But rather than waiting for “them” to reflect it, you and I need to daily act on Christ’s calling for us to be a bridge, a catalyst, a change agent, a genuine unselfish friend to all, irrespective of color or character. Yes, people can petition for change, and communities can struggle to incarnate change within their own traditions, and leaders and denominations can wrestle through the sometimes extremely difficult task of organizational change for the sake of “complete unity.” But God’s Kingdom advances most convincingly through personal almost private acts of unscripted love, sacrificial love.

Writing of such unscripted love, Sam Walter Foss makes the invitation well:

Let me live in my house by the side of the road—

It’s here the race of men go by.

They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,

Wise, foolish—so am I;

Then why should I sit in the scorn’s seat,
Or hurl the cynic’s band?

Let me live in my house by the side of the road

And be a friend to man. ■

It is the middle of winter and all of the delicious summer fruit is only a distant memory. Do you find it difficult to get the much-needed nutrients from fresh fruits and vegetables? According to the USDA, the average adult needs between 2 ½ to 3 cups of vegetables and 2 cups of fruit per day. Fruits and vegetables are low in fat and sodium, and are packed with essential vitamins and nutrients.<sup>1</sup> Dietary fiber from fruit helps to reduce blood cholesterol levels and can even reduce the risk of heart disease! If that is not a reason to eat your fruits and vegetables then I don't know what is! Because fruit and vegetables are so low in calories cup for cup, compared to other foods, eating them will significantly reduce your calorie intake for the day.

One easy way to make sure that you get your daily dose of fruits and vegetables is to juice them. Juices can be made by using any sort of blending machine such as the well-known Nutri Bullet or even an old-school Champion. Here are a few quick and easy juicing recipes that are delicious and packed with nutrients! ■

Then I was told, "You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, languages and kings".

Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people.

He said in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water."

Then I heard a voice from heaven say, "Write this: Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on."

"Yes," says the Spirit, "they will rest from their labor, for their deeds will follow them."

MUSIC ALIVE

WORK = VERB

It occurs more than a dozen times through the course of three hymn stanzas, this verb "work." Strong words they are from teenager Annie Walker, at 18 an author who lived in Canada. "Work, for the Night Is Coming" (hymn 375): Yes, work while it's morning, in bright conditions: man's work is over when night comes. Jesus Himself said, "The night comes, when no man can work" (John 9:4). Yes, work through the noon: rest comes surely and promptly. Yes, work at sunset: continue until the very last beam fades. Such thoughts are allied here to a strong, rhythmic hymn melody by Bostonian Lowell Mason, vigorous in its long-short rhythms. An interesting combination this is—words and music working strongly together. ■

GOODLY PEARLS

BY PASTOR TAURUS MONTGOMERY

Children have a need that is sometimes most neglected, especially in environments where basic needs are often considered luxuries. This need is to hear, to know, and to understand that God loves them and values them more than anything in His whole universe. The Goodly Pearl was one of the children's favorite lessons at Sidewalk Sabbath School. Here is the original quote the lesson was based on:

"Christ, the heavenly merchantman seeking goodly pearls, saw in lost humanity the pearl of price... Hearts that have been the battleground of the conflict with Satan, and that have been rescued by the power of love, are more precious to the Redeemer than are those who have never fallen. . . . He collected all the riches of the universe, and laid them down in order to buy the pearl." (Christ's Object Lessons, Ellen G. White, p. 118.2)

Who would have thought that sharing the depths of the love of Jesus would appeal to inner city, hurting, mischievous, and restless young hearts? Yet the power of the love of Christ has repeatedly proven that it will capture the children's attention, bringing calmness and hope to those who live in dire surroundings.

What is the price of these children's smiles as they tell you that they are goodly pearls? Who can place a value on one's simple statement, "The words you tell me about God make me feel good inside"?

If we do nothing else at Harbor of Hope but meet THAT MOST NEGLECTED NEED, our work will have been well done and its impact will reach into eternity. ■
