WELCOME

to Pioneer

Just imagine the scene. You're in a hospital emergency room waiting to be seen by a doctor. All of a sudden, a seven-foot-tall and twelve-hundred-pound animal casually walks in. That's right! This recently happened in an ER in Anchorage, Alaska, when a moose walked into an ER. Stephanie Hupton captured it all on her cell phone camera. Thankfully, the intentions of the moose were fairly innocent—he just wanted to nibble on some of the nice-looking plants by the entrance. And, after satisfying his curiosity, he made his way back outside. No animals or humans were harmed!

A moose in an ER? Not welcome.

You, on the other hand? You're not just welcome, but we've been expecting you. In particular, we want to welcome all our students who have returned from break. We pray that through today's worship experience and fellowship, you will receive the warmth and blessing of God. Welcome.

Beyond the Birth

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

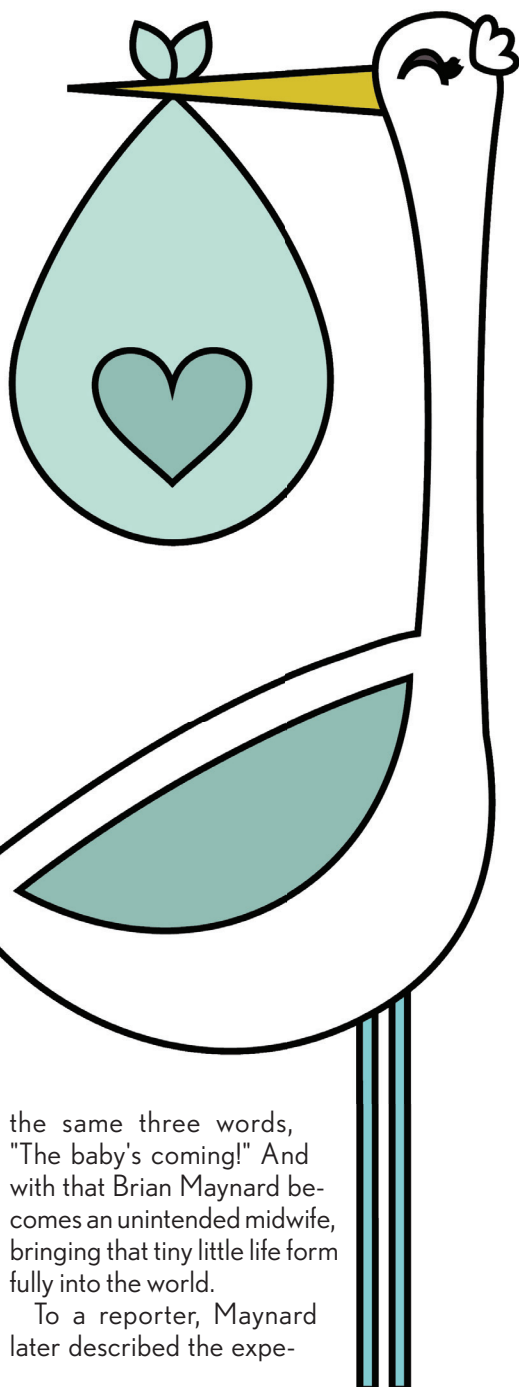

"The baby's coming!" Since time immemorial those three words have sounded a universal red alert for families.

Take Jimmy and Laura Baker in Raleigh, North Carolina. Laura was great with child, but she's been that way it seems for weeks. Until late Saturday afternoon when Laura groans, "The baby's coming." Red alert! Bundling her into his arms and the family van, husband Jimmy floorboards the engine, screeching out the driveway toward the hospital.

That's when, according to WRAL-TV, State Highway Patrol Sgt. Brian Maynard happened to clock the speeding van on his radar—85 mph. Maynard goes on red alert, his blue lights blazing.

But in the van nobody is looking for blue lights, because while the young mother is gasping the baby arrives. Well not quite—there are a few centimeters left to go. Husband Jimmy stomps on the accelerator. That's when he sees the blue lights of the state trooper. Panicky but obedient, he pulls the van with mother and almost-here baby to the side of the road.

Trooper Maynard walks cautiously up to the car. The young husband yells out the same three words, "The baby's coming!" And with that Brian Maynard becomes an unintended midwife, bringing that tiny little life form fully into the world.

To a reporter, Maynard later described the experience as both "scary" and "rewarding." Last reports indicate mother Laura and newborn Halyn are both doing well (www.apnews.com/4cdadaa2cb2f4d-5cb222ee8e6007f022).

When a birthing takes place, life heretofore may have perambulated along—but no more! Priorities radically change, values dramatically realign.

Last Sabbath we were blessed to have our guest preacher Pavel Goia (editor, Ministry magazine) cast a new vision for collective prayer. And at the end of his fourth presentation (to a nearly full house at Pioneer in the afternoon), we knew something had been birthed in our midst. And I realized, as did the rest of us, that we must respond. You can't just listen to those stirring appeals, those dramatic stories and do nothing! (All three Pioneer presentations are at www.pmchurch.org/prayerconference.)

Pavel's powerfully reiterated point—persistent, prevailing prayer ("don't quit praying so soon!") is the path not only to a deepening relationship with God but a door as well to His supernatural interventions in response to such praying. If you do nothing else, listen to the stories Pavel tells in all three online presentations (we have yet to upload his 10:30 AM sermon at the Spanish church). Whatever you do, don't miss the story he told in his first service sermon about Cuba and a team of American doctors who went there to conduct evangelistic series. That one story makes Pavel's reiterated point powerfully.

But we in this campus parish need to respond further. And so, as announced Sabbath afternoon, Pioneer members are invited to join the Village Church in their 10 Days of Prayer that begins 6:30 this evening (January 9)—the first 30 minutes will be for prayer and Bible reading, the last 30 minutes will be a health presentation. But the Pioneer pastors believe there is a further response to this new birthing that we at Pioneer need. And so beginning today (January 9) at our House of Prayer (7AM/7PM) services, we are organizing our "prayer force" into prayer units that will band together for specific deep needs we have. (HOP will begin at 7:10 PM today and next week to accommodate being at the Village for their 30 minute prayer time.)

Gary Burns once shared with me this acrostic—D-U-E—the 3 keys to transformational revival: D-esperation; U-rgency; E-xpectancy. Every story Pavel told modeled these three realities—the people were desperate for God to intervene, their need was urgent, and they fully expected that God could do whatever He wanted. (Don't miss that Cuba story in Pavel's first service sermon!)

What are you desperate for God to do in your life this New Year? What are we desperate for God to do in our lives, in our congregation, in our nation, in our world? Are we desperate enough to prevail in prayer, to persist in praying until God does respond? Are we urgent enough? Do we really believe and expect God to act?

Join us at our winter House of Prayer (every Wednesday at 7:00 AM/PM) here at Pioneer. God has birthed a new vision of persistent, prevailing prayer for us. Now that the baby has arrived, see how quickly and radically this Family acts to accommodate God's vital life changes! ■

The revelation from Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show his servants what must soon take place.

He made it known by sending his angel to his servant John, who testifies to everything he saw—that is, the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ.

Blessed is the one who reads aloud the words of this prophecy, and blessed are those who hear it and take to heart what is written in it, because the time is near.

"HOW DEEP, BROAD, HIGH"

"Elegant" doesn't fully describe this musical score: The musical staves are written in red with elaborated initial letters of various texts in red and blue! And the score is made of thin leather in a roll six feet eight inches long and seven inches wide! Yes, this is a manuscript source for the melody sometimes sung today to the words "O Love, How Deep, How Broad,

How High." Several stanzas of the latter text are found in SDA Hymnal No. 148. However, another melody, AGINCOURT HYMN, not found in the hymnal, is the one scored so elegantly and dating from the first quarter of the fifteenth century. American David Johnson has majestically arranged this ancient melody, as heard in today's Closing Voluntary. ■

SOW Safari—An Adventure with God*

BY STEVEN ATKINS

PIONEER MEMORIAL CHURCH

While most families in Berrien County woke up early Christmas morning to open gifts and celebrate, sixty-three Andrews Academy students and sponsors woke up very early to begin an "Adventure with God." After gathering in the Academy for a departing prayer, they traveled to Chicago O'Hare airport to embark on what would be the trip of a lifetime. Andrews Academy's SOW Safari group was taking its mission trip to Cuba. Some of the young people going on the trip had never been out of the country, and for some, it was the first time to even be on an airplane. But with bags packed, hugs from parents, and lots of prayers, these high-school students embarked on their adventure with God. After traveling most of Christmas Day, they arrived at Havana airport to be greeted by Cuban church members who had a meal prepared for them outside the airport.

SOW Safari, Andrews Academy's biennial two-week mission trip, has been an important part of Andrews Academy's mission since 1986. The name, SOW Safari, speaks to the reason for these trips: Service through the construction of a church or school building, Outreach through Vacation Bible School, and Witness through evangelistic efforts. To date, several hundred people have been baptized through the evangelistic component of these trips, including some of the students themselves!

What an amazing opportunity these participants had in Cuba. If you reflect back a few decades, who would have thought that a church school group of students from the USA would be participating in a mission trip to Cuba! God has opened many doors. The SOW Safari group was working at three different sites. One site was at the conference office in the city center where they were building a kitchen and cafeteria facility. Another group was helping construct some buildings at Cuba's first SDA youth camp where land was recently acquired. The third group was building a home church building at one of the church member's home. Church members have been meeting in someone's home, and the church had outgrown the home. They cannot build a church on property owned by the church, however, they are able to build a building in the backyard of the privately owned land. Andrews Academy students helped build the two-story structure which will be a place of worship for this growing congregation.

Students have been working incredibly hard, and SOW sponsors are so proud of them because they did it with a smile on their face and a hungry spirit to serve. They had discovered so much already! Within two days of working at the conference office site, they dug the ground, prepared the rebar reinforcements, and poured the concrete for the footings. Students were encouraged to place their names in the setting concrete.

These young people put on both an evangelistic series for the adults and conducted VBS for the children. As some students summoned up the courage to tell Bible stories for the first time for groups of children, others preached their first-ever sermon. Vacation Bible School programs include singing, Bible stories, crafts and playing games with the children. The supplies for the VBS program were created by the students this past semester and were left with the children there so that they can continue to participate in the VBS experience.

The people there are incredibly warm and hospitable, and the SOW participants had an amazing experience there. God blessed during this trip. Thank Him for the life-changing experiences of this trip not only on the children in Cuba but also in the changed lives of those who served.

Pioneer has defined the discipleship journey with 4 words; Connect, Grow, Serve, and Go. Here, Andrews Academy took students who have grown up under our roof and stepped into the next phase of discipleship. These students have a clear picture of what it means to GO! So as we think through all of the elements of discipleship that happen under the roof, let us not forget that we are working toward a goal, GO!
