BABEL IN THE MAKING

BY DWIGHT K. NELSON

This winter I read through Jacques Doukhan's new commentary, Seventh-day Adventist International Bible Commentary: Genesis. And in his fascinating description of the Tower of Babel event (Genesis 11) I wonder if we find the antecedent to (or at least the seeds for) what is happening to this nation even as I write.

"Babel"—"confusion"—"because there the LORD confused the language of the whole world" (Genesis 11:9). Could there be a more succinct descriptor for the babble of confusion that now defines this nation's government? It seems there is hardly a soul in the capital not culpable for this chaos—in the administration, Congress, the news media, late night entertainment, et al. Washington is now a veritable cacophony of chaos and confusion: he said/she said, he said/they said, he said/we said. Does anybody know the truth anymore? Or is truth even knowable now?

In the construction of Babel, you remember, the workers (who set out to build "a tower that reaches to the heavens, so that we may make a name for ourselves"—v 4) suddenly found themselves unable to communicate with each other. For the Creator "came down" and rewired their linguistic circuitry. According to Jewish tradition: "And great confusion took place; nobody knew what the other spoke. If one would ask for an ax, the other would hand him a shovel; and getting angry he would throw the shovel at him and kill him. So they left off building the tower, and God scattered them from the face of the earth" (Jacques Doukhan 190).

But there is more to the story. Doukhan writes: "The story of the tower of Babel also conveys a message of hope. There forever” (Daniel 2:44). The Apocalypse declares: “Fallen! Fallen is Babylon [from “Babel” or confusion] the Great! . . . ‘Hallelujah! Salvation and glory and power belong to our God, for true and just are his judgments” (Revelation 18:2; 19:1-2).

I find peaceful assurance in these words from a century ago: “. . . the complicated play of human events [even in Washington] is under divine control. Amidst the strife and tumult of nations, He [who sits] above the cherubim still guides the affairs of the earth. . . . To every nation and to every individual of today [including the President] God has assigned a place in His great plan. . . . All are by their own choice deciding their destiny, and God is overruling all for the accomplishment of His purposes” (Education 178).

So we need not fret. God is on His throne. The door of opportunity to reach this nation is still open. And He will have a people loyally devoted to Him over all rulers and politicians. And His people will surely soon mobilize themselves across this country with the urgently good news that Christ is soon to come. No confusion in their message. Just the earnest appeal to, as one ancient prophet put it, “Prepare to meet thy God!” (Amos 4:12). ■ is an ‘after’ Babel: God will come down. This is the central message of the story. . . . This hope resonates throughout the Scriptures. It is seen in the prophets’ vision of the gathering of all nations under the rule of God [one day]” (186).

Because no matter the confusion that reigns in our government right now, there is One who will have the last word—when “the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed . . . but it will itself endure

GOD'S ABUNDANT PANTRY: SERVING HUMANITY

BY CHUCK PECK

A couple of weeks ago we were blessed to see this year's round of graduation ceremonies. On that weekend, Andrews University students were awarded their degrees in recognition for their hard work, financial sacrifice, and emotional stress that they invested in their education. They are now equipped to fulfill the Gospel Commission wherever God leads them.

GAP donors can feel good for having a part in helping reduce the financial stress these students have experienced. Your $10 donation to GAP is multiplied 15, 20, or 25 times, depending on the source of the food distributed to the international and graduate students.

We are often asked, "How can a $10 donation be multiplied to equal $150–$250 dollars worth of groceries? Where do you buy food staples for just cents on the dollar?" Those are good questions. GAP has several resources.

Feeding America, a national organization with many regional warehouses, is our largest resource. It receives donations of food products from manufacturers, distributors, retailers and growers. GAP places weekly orders from their current inventory list. GAP pays 16, 12, or 6 cents a pound depending on the food products and time of the year. Often Feeding America has produce and bakery goods they give to GAP because they know GAP volunteers will sort through pallets of these very perishable products that will be eaten within a day or two.

Another big resource for fresh produce is the local commercial growers. Farmers will often produce more fruits, berries, or vegetables than they can sell. Instead of dumping that produce back on the fields or paying to haul it to a landfill, they will call GAP. They are pleased to know that the investment they have made in growing their produce through cash and time will be a blessing to student families.

Other resources include home gardeners, food distributors, and individuals who are moving and don't want to haul a lot of food to their next house. GAP also purchases some bulk food staples wholesale, such as various types of dried rice, beans, split peas and cornmeal.

To better understand how valuable your donations are, read the student testimonials below. ■

SUPPORT THIS MINISTRY

Please write
"GAP or God's Abundant Pantry"
on your tithe envelope.

My husband and I came from Brazil to study at Andrews University in August 2014. In our country the value of the coin is very low. We have to pay rent, studies, and have a 17-month-old son. Sometimes we do not have enough money to buy food.

GAP has been a blessing in our life. I get food every Tuesday and Thursday. I arrive with my empty bag and come back with it overflowing. We just have to thank the donors and volunteers responsible for GAP, for always giving us the best.

Andrews Student Family of Three

I am Jessica, an Andrews student who goes to GAP regularly to get food. I also go to get my twice weekly dose of friendliness from the staff. Aside from the bread, produce, and treats I receive from the combined donated food and donated money, I also get to interact with the volunteers. The volunteers are absolutely wonderful! They greet all the students who come through to get food cheerfully! It starts at front of the line at the sign in sheet. Then it continues along the rectangle as students choose food. The GAP volunteers greet me with a "hello," a smile and instructions regarding the food item they are in charge of that day. There is also the unforgettable jolly fun and joking between the volunteers and students served.

MUSIC ALIVE

EMOTIONS OF LAMENT AND JOY

Strong emotions characterize music sung by members of the Berrien Springs High School Concert Choir and Bel Canto today. Their director is Carrie VanDenburgh, an alumnae of Andrews University. Randall Stroope's Lamentations (9:00) runs a wide gamut of emotion, from the mysterious, plaintive opening to the impassioned outcry to passersby. The text is in Latin, taken from the biblical book of Lamentations 1:12:

"All you that pass by the way look and see if there be any sorrow like my sorrow." The African-American spiritual "Walk in Jerusalem" (11:45) has a choir part of buoyant, joyous hope. Wayne Hooper spread an unaccompanied version of this in our Church with The King's Heralds, where a part of the text proclaimed, "O John, now didn't you say . . . That you'd be there on that great day." ■
